

Things I can do at school to help me find a job after school

Ticket to Work supports students with disability to transition to employment. We found the more you do in school the more likely you are to be successful in getting a job after school

Many people can help you on your journey, this could include your family, the National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS), a Disability Employment Service (DES), or a local Ticket to Work network.

* Things I can do after school - Remember, that you can combine options!
